ROAD TESTS MADE
SHOWING AUTO PULL

Many Pounds Are Saved by Making Good Roads and Using Large Tires.

In an editorial on "Good Roads and Good Wheels," the Saturday Evening Post recently published the following: "Tests made by the Missouri Experiment station showed that with an inch-and-a-half tire the average pull per ton on earth roads was eighty-six pounds, and with the same tire on macadam roads it was seventy-one pounds; but on the same earth roads with a six-inch tire, the average pull was only sixty-one pounds. By improving roads you save fifteen pounds of pull; by improving the tire you save twenty-five pounds."

In summing up the situation the Post adds: "No extensive information on the subject is available; but we seem to remember meeting with more wide-tired vehicles in the country than formerly. Probably the constant object lesson of the automobile, with its big tires, has had some educational value in that direction." In commenting on this article, W. J. Mead, general manager of the Olds Motor works, of Lansing, states that in his opinion this principle of large tires has been thoroughly recognized by the majority of motor car manufacturers. He further adds "whereas it is true that we formerly used small tires on our cars, today there is not an Oldsmobile leaving the factory with tires less than four-and-a-half inches in diameter."

Handsome Catalogue.

In a cover of gray, so embossed as to give it a suggestion of Turkish tapestry, is issued an "automobile catalogue de luxe," as the H. H. Franklin Manufacturing company of Syracuse designates the formal and elaborate announcement of its motor cars for 1910.

This catalogue is pronounced by some who have already seen it as the handsomest one ever put out by automobile makers. The catalogue is a thirty-five-page book, into the front design of which the Franklin monogram has been woven. In addition, the monogram is embossed in gilt in the center of the cover. The fly leaves at front and back are of the same material as the cover and have a design of similar pattern, and is printed throughout in colors.

Hard Colds.

People whose blood is pure are not nearly so likely to take hard colds as are others.

Physiology goes into the reason. Hood's sarsaparilla makes the blood pure, causing healthy action of the mucous membrane and giving strength and tone to all the organs and functions. This great medicine recovers the system after a cold, as no other does.
